

This workshop aims to create a permanent forum of discussion on how global (economic) history has penetrated in China and Europe and the way scholars carry on their case studies on collecting data. The main issue of discussion is how scholars should conduct and quantify their research to analyse modern economic growth in China and Europe.

Nowadays scholars confront universal problems such as getting access to funding, career development, as well as academic publications to make science open to big audiences which might help to solve current problems in our society. Such paramount issues are tackled in this workshop. The permanent dialogue and network among researchers, funding institutions and publishers seems fundamental.

This workshop is organized by the GECEM (Global Encounters between China and Europe) project, sponsored by the ERC (European Research Council)-Starting Grant/Horizon 2020. Prof. Manuel Perez Garcia is the director of ERC-GECEM and associate professor at Renmin University of China. The workshop is hosted by the University of Chicago-Center in Beijing and promoted by the EU Delegation in China and Euraxess China.

GECEM Project-679371, ERC-Starting Grant, Horizon 2020

Venue: The University of Chicago-Center in Beijing (China)
November 21, 2016

The University of Chicago Center in Beijing 20th floor, Culture Plaza
No. 59A Zhongguancun Street, Haidian District

Contact to register:

Marisol Vidales (ERC-GECEM, project manager)
contact@globalhistorynetwork.com

Workshop Schedule

November 21

14:00-14:15 Opening Remarks

Prof. Manuel Perez Garcia (ERC-GECCEM P.I. / Renmin University of China)

14:15-14:40 Keynote Speech

Dr Laurent Bochereau (Minister Counsellor, Head of Science, Technology and Environment Section, Delegation of the European Union to China and Mongolia)

14:40-15:40

Panel 1, How to Make Quantitative Research in China and Europe

Chair: Nakamura Bauwens, Hitomi (Nanzan University)

- Ni Yuping (Tsinghua University): Long Performance of Customs Duties in Qing China, ca 1644-1911
- Wallis, Patrick (London School of Economics): From Genealogy to History: New Evidence on Structural Change and Commercialization in Britain, 1550-1800
- Pérez García, Manuel (ERC-GECCEM P.I. / Renmin University of China): New Cases of Comparisons between China and Europe: Macau and Marseille

- Bauwens, Fabian (Renmin University of China): Measuring the Chineseness of the EU-China FTA Regime

Q & A

16:00-16:20: Coffee / tea break

16:30-17:00

Panel 2, Fostering Scientific Mobility between China and Europe

Strelcova, Andrea (Chief Representative of Euraxess China): EURAXESS: Gateway to European Funding & Sino-European Research Networks

Q & A

17:00-17:30

Panel 3, Publications and Open Science: Editor Views

Sara Crowley-Vigneau (Editor Chief of Palgrave-Macmillan in Asia-Pacific Region)

Launch of New Series 'Palgrave Studies in Comparative Global History' and Book presentation 'China-Latin America Economic Relations', co-edited by Manuel Perez Garcia

Contact to register:

Marisol Vidales (ERC-GECCEM, project manager)
contact@globalhistorynetwork.com